Entech Announces New Corporate Board Member

READING, PA - Entech Engineering, Inc. (Entech), headquartered in Reading, PA, welcomes Christopher Hannum, PE, Principal, to the firm's Board of Directors. With more than 35 years in the industry, Mr. Hannum brings a wealth of experience and expertise to the boardroom. In addition to his extensive background in project management, project execution, and construction management, Chris is a seasoned board member with a strong sense of community and leadership, having served 12 years as a Director on the board of the Oley Valley School District, in addition to service on the boards of the Reading Symphony Orchestra, the Pennsylvania National Guard Military Museum, and the Oley Township Zoning Hearing Board.

Entech's President and Chairman of the Board, Robert Weir, PE, shared:

"Chris brings a wealth of expertise and fresh perspectives to our team which will undoubtedly enhance our strategic decision-making and help move the company forward."

The Board consists of five voting members and two advisors with diverse experience to assist in the organization's growth and implementation of strategic plans. Mr. Hannum succeeds outgoing board member Tanner Sattler PG, who helped guide the firm through the challenges and uncertainty of the pandemic. He joins current board members Robert Weir, President, Bryon Killian, Executive Vice President, Bryan Haag and Kara Humes.

About Christopher Hannum, PE:

Chris joined Entech in 2012 to oversee engineering for water and wastewater services. In 2017 he accepted the additional role as Principal, serving on Entech's Executive Leadership Team. A recognized leader in the field of wastewater engineering, he holds patents for both wastewater clarification and sludge digestion methods and apparatus. Mr. Hannum is a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute and a Veteran, having served in the United States Army for 6 years. He has been married to his wife, Debbie, for 28 years and has an adult daughter, Caroline.
