Entech Engineering Named One of the Best Places to Work in Pennsylvania for Seventh Consecutive Year

Recognition by Central Penn Business Journal and Lehigh Valley Business Highlights Entech's Continued Commitment to Employee Growth and Workplace Culture

READING, PA.,— Entech Engineering, Inc. (Entech) has once again been named one of the Best Places to Work in PA by the Central Penn Business Journal and Lehigh Valley Business. Entech placed #30 in the medium-sized business category. The winners were celebrated at an event hosted by Central Penn Business Journal and Lehigh Valley Business on December 4 at the Lancaster Marriott at Penn Square Hotel.

This marks the firm's seventh consecutive year on the prestigious list, which honors Pennsylvania employers who excel in creating and maintaining positive, rewarding workplace environments.

The Best Places to Work in PA program, managed by Best Companies Group, evaluates companies based on employee feedback and workplace policies, with results derived from a comprehensive two-part assessment that weighs employee experience as 75% of the total score.

"Receiving this recognition for seven consecutive years is truly a testament to our people," said Robert J. Weir, President of Entech Engineering. "Our success is built on collaboration, trust, and shared purpose. These are the values that drive us to make a positive impact for our clients, communities, and each another every day."
