Joppy Receives Professional Engineering License

Reading, PA - Entech is pleased to announce that Michael Joppy, PE, recently received his Professional Engineering License from the State of Pennsylvania.

Michael is part of the Facilities Planning & Design Group, where he focuses on energy analysis and building systems designs which enable our clients to improve the impact and value of their facilities and campuses.

Entech's Stuart Heisey, Director of MEP Services, said about Michael's achievement:

"A well-deserved career milestone for an excellent engineer and a great team player. Michael is exactly the kind of person who Entech strives to attract and develop for a career of creating better built environments for our communities."

Michael is a graduate of Penn State University. He works out of the Reading office and has been part of Entech's staff since 2013.
