Entech Recognized Again as A Best Place to Work in PA

Reading, PA - Entech Engineering, Inc. (Entech) is pleased to announce the company has been ranked #28 in the list of Best Places to Work in Pennsylvania for medium-size companies in 2022. The awards program is a public/private partnership between Team Pennsylvania Foundation, the Pennsylvania Department of Community and Economic Development, the Pennsylvania State Council of the Society for Human Resource Management, and the Central Penn Business Journal. This is Entech's fourth consecutive year of being recognized on the list.

On hearing the news of the award, Amanda Hollen, PHR, of Entech's Human Resources team shared,

"Even more notable than the award, is what we do with the survey results. Each year we thoroughly analyze the data looking for trends, growth, and areas for improvement and then share the findings with our entire company. Our Leadership Team dedicates time to understanding that information and forms a plan for how to maintain and improve our employees' satisfaction in the upcoming year. That means a lot to our employees because they know their voice is being heard."

Companies from across the state are nominated to determine the 100 Best Places to Work in Pennsylvania. Evaluations are comprised of an assessment of the company's workplace policies, practices, philosophies, systems, demographics, and an employee survey to measure the employee experience.
